Objectives and topics

Management information systems, play a vital role in the activities of various types of organizations. These systems allow for the collection and processing of a large amount of information, but also greatly support knowledge management in the organization. In the Industry 4.0 era the system should also be able to understand the significance of phenomena occurring around the organization environment. It is becoming more and more necessary to make decisions based not only on knowledge but also on experience, thus far regarded as purely human domain. The IMIS 2019 Special Session at the 11th International Conference on Computational Collective Intelligence (ICCCI 2019) is devoted to models, methods and approaches addressing developing of intelligent solution for improving functionality of management information systems . We want to offer an opportunity for researchers and practitioners to identify new promising research directions as well as to publish recent advances in this area. The scope of the IMIS 2019 includes, but is not limited to the following topics related to management information systems:

- Industry 4.0 solutions,
- Deep learning and cognitive technologies,
- Machine learning,
- Agent-based systems,
- Genetic and evolutionary algorithms,
- Bioinformatics,
- Bioeconomy,
- Financial systems,
